

Canadian PGA Instructional Team 2008

Conor O'Shea

Conor is a graduate of Charleston Southern University where he played NCAA Division 1 golf.

Conor entered the teaching profession after understudying Sean Foley for 5 seasons. Conor's ability to empower the learner and create an environment where the student is able to self-discover is central to his teaching success. Conor works with a wide range of clients ranging from the weekend enthusiast to those whose lives revolve around the process of becoming champions of this sport.

A certified Swinglink Fitness Instructor, Conor also competes regionally on the Great Lakes Tour and has a passion for understanding the psychological component to playing one's best

As well as teaching at Piper's Heath Golf Academy Conor is a regional CJGA Linksters coach and a Children's Author as well. Conor is set to release his first children's story about playing golf this season and hopes to inspire positive growth for kids towards a life long game.
