Matt's teaching style is catered to his students. With the help of Different Strokes (learning style assessment tool) Matt can receive customized advice on how to best communicate concepts and techniques with all his students. This is all done with a simple 20-question survey, which allows him to tailor his coaching style to fit each individual student.

"I love watching the reaction on a students face when they have accomplished a goal, nothing is more satisfying than helping someone achieve that."
